

MARQUÉS DEL HUECO RESERVA

Red wine | Vintage 2016 Alcohol content: 14% vol.

VINTAGE

This wine is made with the most typical Rioja varietis such as Tempranillo, Mazuelo and Graciano, achieving a classic "coupage". The Tempranillo variety is characterized by its unmiskakable aroma and contribution of color. However, Mazuelo also stands out for its color intensity, acidity and structure, just like Graciano, which transmits freshness to the wines. This assembly provides the wines with ideal conditions for aging.

CHARACTERISTICS ORGANOLEPTIC

Visual phase
Ruby red color with brick red rims, bright and clean showing a médium-high robe clean and crystalline salmon colour.

Aromatic phase
The aromas of red cherries, fruits of the forest such as curransts and cassis stand out, with an acid and fresh background, and menthol as well as spices such as White pepper or licorice.

Taste phase
Intense as well as fruity, silky and well assembled tannins, with good acidity and freshness. With a long and pleasant aftertaste, with light aftertaste memories of toffee and coffee.

VINEYARD

The varieties Tempranillo 90%, Mazuelo 5%, and Graciano 5% are used. They are strains of 35-40 years located in the terms of Laguardia, Elciego and Lapuebla mainy at an altitude of 550 meters, facing South and the type of soil is Clay-Calcareous and Alluvial.

TYPE OF WINE

Dry Red.

ELABORATION

The harvest takes place at the end of October. Macerates pre-fermentation for 2-3 days at 12ºC. Vinification at a controlled temperatura of 25ºC in stainless steel tanks with native yeasts. Daily pump-overs are carried out to increase coloring extraction. Aged for 18 months in French and American oak Bordeaux barrels.